Dear Dick,

Tom Coleman informed me only a few hours ago that you are in the hospital as a result of a bad accident which occurred whilst you were riding your motorcycle.

I should like you to know how sorry I am to hear this, and how much my heart goes out to you at this time of pain and suffering. This note carries my earnest hopes for your full and speedy recovery, and, regrettably, must be considered surrogate for my personally visiting you at your hospital. At this distance,

(OVER)

I only wish there were some tangible way I could make things easier for you. Short of that, you should know that a good friend of yours is eagerly waiting to hear that you have returned home in full health and vigor.

As ever,
