SENT TO NON-MEMBERS

April 14, 1982

Dear Friend:

We are happy to extend an invitation to you to attend the annual conference of the American Association for Personal Privacy which will take place Friday, May 28 to Monday, May 31, 1982 at the University of Pennsylvania's Museum. We have every reason to believe that this years meeting will be successful, informative and enjoyable and we hope that you are able to attend.

Enclosed is our questionnaire which we urgently request you to complete and return within 10 days. A return envelope is enclosed. Your prompt response will help us meet deadlines and keep costs down.

Inflation and union contracts in Philadelphia have driven costs fo the meetings up from last year. We are making every effort to keep costs down. Costs for sleeping accomodations at a University dormitory are listed on the questionnaire. Registration for the entire meeting is $50.00. Persons attending for one day or for part of a day are charged $20.00. Students need only pay $5.00 per day. Persons who are staying at the dormitory are asked to send in a room deposit (one nights cost) as soon as possible. WE CANNOT GUARANTEE THE AVAILABILITY OF ROOMS FOR WHICH WE HAVE NOT RECEIVED A DEPOSIT BY APRIL 30.

The agenda for the meetings is on the reverse side of this page. Please note that you are invited to the wine and cheese reception on Friday night. It is important, however, that you fill out the questionnaire so that we can send you further details as well as help us in planning.

The Association meetings are by invitation only. Members of the general public are not invited. We maintain this rule so that the topics planned will be fully explored be of most value to the participants. This years participants in addition to those listed on the agenda include: Thomas Coleman Esq., Executive Director of the Governor's Commission on Personal Privacy in California; Phyllis Nobbs, President of the New Jersey Coalition on Lesbian and Gay Rights; Paul Hardman, Publisher of the VOICE in San Francisco and John McNeil SJ, theologian and author.

If you have any questions, please call one of the Philadelphia Host Committee: Russell Cardamone, w 215 MU 6 8657, h 215 545 3265; Richard Kirk h 215 386 6494 or Anthony Silvestre w 215 732 3212, h 215 732-1529.

Sincerely,

The Philadelphia Committee
